TOWNLEY CONVICTION UPHELD
BY MINNESOTA SUPREME COURT;
SENTENCE OF 90 DAYS IN JAIL

Nonpartisan League's Head Convicted in District Court on Charges of Conspiracy to Encourage Disloyalty with Joseph Gilbert, Formerly Minnesota Manager for the League—Council Unable to Say What Will be Next Move of League Chief.

ST. PAUL, April 29.—Conviction of A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, and Joseph Gilbert, formerly Minnesota Manager for the league, on charges of conspiracy to encourage disloyalty during the war was upheld by the supreme court today.

Townley and Gilbert were found guilty July 12, 1919, by a jury in the Jackson county district court and sentenced by Judge E. C. Dean to 90 days in Jackson county jail. Execution of sentence, was delayed by appeal.

Charges against Townley and Gilbert were based on speeches the two men delivered in behalf of the Nonpartisan league in Jackson and other Minnesota counties. They were convicted after a three weeks' trial at Jackson, Minnesota.

Appeal for a new trial was denied by Judge Dean on July 27, 1920, and the case was appealed to the state supreme court August 2, 1920.

Townley was reported in Broken Bow, Nebraska, last night and his counsel could not say what would be the next move of the convicted pair.

Gilbert is serving a year's sentence in the Goodhue county jail at Red Wing, Minnesota, for conviction on an indictment charging him with interference with enlistments in violation of the Minnesota statutes.

INTRODUCE NEW STUDY COURSE
IN NEXT YEAR

Educators at Work Preparing Line of Instruction for State Schools

A new course of study will be introduced in the graded schools of the state for the next school year, Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction, said today. Until the initiated law, effective in December, restoring Miss Nielson's powers, her authority to prepare a course of study for the schools was questioned, and had been raised during a lawsuit. Miss Nielson said that it was desirable to institute a new course of study in the schools during the school term and for this reason the course will be provided for next year. The course of study is now in the process of preparation.

Most schools of the state now are using the course of study prepared by E. J. Taylor, former state superintendent and now deputy state superintendent of public instruction, the course prepared by N. C. Macdonald, having been discarded in most schools. The high school course of study was prepared under the direction of A. L. Schafer, a high school inspector in Miss Nielson's office.

Town Criers Announce Purpose of Week's Effort

PLAN MANY DISPLAYS

Special Features Also Promised for Interesting Week

The Town Criers announced today definite plans for "Do You Know Bismarck Week," which will be held beginning Monday. Under the heading of "Do You Know" the Town Criers announce their intention of asking and answering hundreds of questions concerning Bismarck, with the aid of citizens. The Town Criers have started to find out just what is in Bismarck—they invite questions and answers from every citizen.

"What is Bismarck and what is Bismarck?"

The Town Criers club of Bismarck devoted to truth in advertising and to advertising the community, plan to advertise Bismarck to the people of Bismarck next week.

Taking the premise that very few people in Bismarck really appreciate what has been done in building up a city out of a raw prairie town less than a half century ago, and that very few people including the Town Criers—really know the necessary facts about Bismarck to tell to a stranger in boosting the town, the club plans to devote six days, to telling all about the city.

Many features have been worked out by the committees of the club, after an interchange of ideas at club meetings.

Plan for Week

The plan for the week includes Request of all ministers in the city to devote a few minutes Sunday to a talk upon the duty of every citizen to his community. Special articles by representative citizens of the city.

Request of the head of every fraternal or other organization in the city and women's clubs to devote at least ten minutes of their meeting time to a discussion of Bismarck and how the city may be bettered.

Special window displays in downtown stores illustrating the accomplishments of the city and scattering of "Do You Know" facts all over the city.

Four-minute talks in the theaters and talks to high school and junior high school students on Bismarck.

Essay contest in the high school and junior high school on "Bismarck, My City, Why I Like It, and How I Think It Can Be Improved."

Request of business houses, particularly those whose business is little understood by the public, to hold an "open house" to the people of the city during the week.

Ask Co-operation. The Town Criers also have some special features for the week, which they have not divulged, but which will be announced early next week. The co-operation of all citizens is to be sought by the club in making the week a success.

SECRET SORROW CAUSES MILLION-
AIRE TO LIVE AND DIE AS MISER

Even Widow Cannot Explain Wall Street Mystery

BY R. H. WHITNEY
Bensonhurst, L. I., April 29.—What was the secret sorrow that so dominated the life of Calvin Amory Stevens, that it turned him from a buoyant, loving husband and father, into a bitter, miserly old man? Why did he abandon his beautiful home and forsake his charming wife and daughter, to live in a garret hovel atop a dilapidated business building in the heart of the Wall Street district?

Stevens, the miser, died suddenly in Trinity hospital, Brooklyn, on March 20. Screaming and protesting against the invasion of the police, he had been forcibly taken to the hospital only after his janitor-superintendent feared he would die of starvation. Starvation, however, did not kill him; heart disease did.

Asks Allowance. A simple court proceeding brought later by his widow, revealed that Stevens had left behind upward of $150,000 in cash, bonds, real estate, coal mines in Virginia and mineral deposits in western states.

No will has been found. The court action of his widow consisted of an affidavit filed in probate court asking for $10,000 a year from her husband's estate for the "support and education of their daughter, Kate, 18."

She submitted to the court that Kate recently became the bride of Richard Fagan, 19, a student at Dartmouth college, whose home is in Galveston, Texas.

Kate has been a student at Miss Saywood's School, Overbrook, Philadelphia. She met Fagan at school hops. The youngsters eloped.

Married Widow. It was while living in a modest boarding house in Hoboken that Stevens fell in love with a young widow and married her. Together they went to Bensonhurst, where he erected a costly home. Within two years Kate was born.

Then came a wierd change in Stevens' life. For years he limited himself to 50 cents a day for food, patched his shoes himself with cardboard, and scurried forth at night to collect newspapers and tin cans which he sold in the morning to junk dealers.

Wife's Story. But let his wife tell her story as she told it to me.

"In the early days it was all so different. Then we had all the luxuries our hearts desired. I had a daughter, Jessie, when I married Mr. Stevens. She is now Mrs. Anthony de Sousa, and her husband is an electrical engineer in Brazil.

"My husband loved Jessie as I loved both girls, Jessie and Kate, and denied them nothing. But there was some sorrow in his heart—he never would tell me what.

"As time wore on my husband became obsessed with the idea that overwork, no matter how rich, should dispense with all luxuries. He ordered plain foods and said we must not spend money for anything that was not absolutely necessary.

"Then came the time when we dispensed with our household employees and settled down to a hum-drum existence.

Money Mania. "Mr. Stevens became engrossed with his business. I thought of nothing else. It became a mania with him.

"I can recall many a time when he came home actually ill from overwork, but he wouldn't rest. Night after night he would sit up until long after daybreak, poring over his books and his stacks of money.

"I have heard his racking cough, and often went downstairs and pleaded that he go to bed to give his health. But, no.

"There were times when he bluntly informed me that his books were 1 cent out of the way. Mind you, just 1 cent. I dropped a penny on the floor picked it up and handed it to him saying 'Why, here is the difference.'

"But he was not satisfied. Often he would walk into the library to find him sitting alone, his face filled with tears sobbing hysterically. He adopted his mode of living, and adhered to it while I chose to continue here with my children.

"Mr. Stevens owned 140,000 acres in Virginia and had a home there, with servants and everything that a man's wealth could afford. He also maintained a room in a hotel in New York but that in his business I believe, was necessary.

"I tried with all the love in my heart to make him take care of himself, to preserve his health, but he wouldn't. Finally, I made up my mind not to interfere in anything he did.

"I am sure he left no will and all others who knew him will understand what a terrible horror he had of death. He didn't want to speak of it, and the subject of a will, he once said, was to invite death.

CAPTAIN VECCH RESIGNS. Grand Forks, N. D., April 29.—Captain H. Vecch who has commanded the Salvation Army corps of Grand Forks since 1918, has resigned because of ill health. He will leave N. D. with his wife for Cleveland.

LOSES LEGS BY INCHES. Geneva, April 29.—The Croix de Guerre has been awarded Emile Fret deveau, 34, a member of the French Foreign Legion. A discomfiting operation of arms and legs. Doctors cannot cure the disease.

FURTHERING REVOLUTION

Federal Officials Believe Men at Large Are Encouraging Propaganda

Chicago, April 29.—The real leaders in the group of industrial workers of the world convicted for anti-government war-time conspiracy have jumped their bonds and now are believed to be furthering revolutionary ideas, federal officials said today, after a final checkup of the 47 men who were to report to the Leavenworth, Kan., penitentiary following refusal of the United States supreme court to review their cases.

Nine convicted men are at liberty, the others either having reached the penitentiary or being on their way, it was stated.

Only one of the conspiracy leaders is behind the bars, however, the others at Leavenworth being termed small fry or men who happened to get into the way of the government war-time drag net.

THREE IN RUSSIA. Of the nine who are free six are looked on as chief instigators of the anti-war activities. Three of these are believed to be holding "eminent" positions in the Russian Soviet government and three are believed to be in this country. Two of the remaining three who have not surrendered are expected to give up within a few days.

Editor Reports. Ralph Chaplin, editor of the Solidarity, once the official I. W. O. organ, was said by federal officials to be the only "big gun" in the conspiracy now at Leavenworth.

"Big Bill" Haywood is authoritatively reported to be minister of propaganda for the Soviet government with the task of spreading its doctrines through many countries.

Secretary Hughes laying before them the views of the principal allied powers with regard to the offer. Meantime the American reply to the German communication was held up.

While the cabinet was considering the question it became known that Great Britain and Italy had not definitely rejected the German offer as unacceptable as a basis for negotiations. It was understood, however, that the French and Belgian views were that the terms were unacceptable.

According to information in usually well informed quarters Secretary Hughes still is hopeful that negotiations between the allies and Germany can be reopened. NATIONAL PARKS WELL STOCKED FOR SUMMER TOURIST FISHING

Yellowstone to Abound With Trout With 1,951,300 Trout Fry Hatched in Government Hatchery There

SAME IN OTHER PARKS

The national parks offer exceptional opportunities for trout fishing this summer. Through co-operation with the Federal Bureau of Fisheries and the several State Fish and Game Commissions the park waters have been extensively stocked with trout, according to a bulletin issued recently by the National Park Service.

While Yellowstone National Park is more noted for its geysers and hot springs than for its fishing, says the bulletin, the park offers some of the best fishing grounds in the United States. Last year 1,951,300 trout fry hatched in the United States Fish Hatchery located on Yellowstone Lake.

who had the time and inclination to make trips some miles from the main roads never failed to bag the limit of twenty. A twenty-pound Mackinaw trout was caught with hook and line in the Snake River not far from the south entrance on Sept. 21, 1920.

More than 200,000 fish fry were planted in Yosemite National Park in 1920. These consisted of Lock Leven, German brown, Eastern brook and rainbow trout. Fishing is reported excellent in most of the lakes and streams of the park, although fish in Merced River in the Yosemite Valley are said to be highly educated and do not respond readily to the fly.

Fishing was excellent in almost every river, creek and lake in the Sequoia National Park, California, in 1920. Well into the season the skilled angler could take the limit of twenty on creeks within a mile or two of Giant Forest. Sixty-nine thousand fish fry were planted in 1920 in park waters.

Through co-operation with the Pierce County Fish and Game Commission 10,000 Eastern brook fry were planted by the National Park Service in most frequented lake waters in the Mount Rainier Park, Washington. Fishing, however, is not particularly good in the streams, as the water during the summer months is turbid with glacial silt and the fish do not bite as well at such times.

Trotting is the best method employed by the most successful anglers in the Crater Lake National Park, Oregon, and no trouble is experienced by those using the right kind of tackle in taking the limit, which is five fish per day. The trout range in weight from one and a half to four pounds. Number 5 hooks with spoon or spinner, copper on one side and silver on the other, make the best equipment, but good results are often secured by use of a fly, says the bulletin.

The United States Fish Hatchery in Glacier National Park, Montana, hatched and planted 1,058,000 trout fry in park waters. The fish planted were eastern brook, rainbow and black spotted trout. Fishing is reported excellent in all parts of the park, particularly in Lake McDermott and Two Medicine Lake.

In Rocky Mountain Park, Colorado, fishing conditions are reported very good. Through co-operation with the Colorado State Hatchery 100,000 Eastern brook trout were planted in the Big Thompson River in Moraine Park.

No game fish exist naturally in the Grand Canyon National Park, the Colorado river, containing native gila trout, carp, suckers, and occasionally a salmon. Bright Angel Creek was stocked extensively in 1920 with Eastern brook trout.

In Lafayette National Park, Maine, the lakes are well stocked with lake trout and land salmon, ranging in weight from one to six pounds. The limit is fifteen fish or twenty-five pounds a day. Trolling is the most satisfactory method of fishing. The lure varies with the fancy of the individual. Phantom minnows, archer spinners with live bait, Hangey or Mooshead spinners with worm or fly all are equally good.

AMERICANIZATION WORK IN MINNESOTA PROVES ITS WORTH

Alonso G. Grace, son of Judge and Mrs. R. H. Grace, of Bismarck, has had charge of a special course in the University of Minnesota, which has had for its aim the training of illiterate immigrants. The Minneapolis Journal describes the work as follows:

"Fifty-two men and women received certificates of attainment at the first annual commencement of the Americanization school at Hopkins. Among the graduates were foreigners who came to the United States only five months ago, unable to speak the English language at that time.

"The certificates were presented by Alonso G. Grace, of the Anthropology and Americanization training department of the University of Minnesota, who was in charge of the course, at special exercises last Thursday night, which marked the end of four months of high school. Ages of the students ranged from 15 to 50 years.

"Every community in Minnesota needs this sort of work," Professor Grace said. "In the state are 40 different racial groups, which all need organization and Americanization. The American needs it as well as the foreigner."

"Unusual interest in the course was shown by the attendants," Professor Grace said. Joseph Hlave did not miss a single lecture and Frank Viska walked five miles to school for almost every session. The school had one of the best records in the country for attendance, an average of 41.6 out of 47.4 enrolled attending, he said.

The course will be lengthened to six nity, so near a large commercial center.

In addition to learning the English language members of the class put their knowledge to practical use by publishing and editing the Citizen, a four page paper, he said.

AT THE MOVIES

CHARLES CHAPLIN

Remorse which have been current in the motion picture industry that Charlie Chaplin longed to forsake the field of buffoonery and appear in a dramatic role on the screen have been verified as having a substantial basis for the picture has been completed. The idea, however, that he would adopt the matinee idol make-up and attempt to make the public forget the character which is identified by his name all over the world is merely a mistaken idea engendered from the report that he was working in a dramatic picture.

The comedian has accomplished the impossible in his latest picture, "The Kid," First National's six reels of joy, which will be an attraction at the Eltinge theater, beginning Monday, May 2. Directors, previous employees and others associated with him in his screen career had pronounced it impossible that he appear in his screen character in a semi-dramatic story and succeed in gaining sympathy as well as laughs from his audiences in the plight which the plot developed.

"In 'The Kid,' however, according to critics and others who have seen it, he accomplishes it. Charlie is there in the same character which has gained him the place as the world's most popular comedian, but in situations which combine an occasional sob with shrieks of laughter. Charlie becomes the guardian of a two weeks old baby, and expends upon him all the love and devotion that any father could. His character, however, makes his every attempt a humorous circumstance, but the heart throbs are ever present in the main theme of the story.

TURKS SOUGHT TO GET VICTIMS' INSURANCE

By Newspaper Enterprise.
New York, April 28.—Henry Morgenthau, American ambassador at Constantinople from 1913-16, tells a story of Talaat Pasha, who was recently murdered by an Armenian in Berlin.

Having massacred 700,000 Armenians, the Turkish government proposed to swell its exchequer by collecting the insurance money of their victims.

"Talaat made to me," relates Morgenthau, "the most astonishing request I had ever heard."

"I wish," Talaat said, "that you would get the American life insurance companies to send in a complete list of their Armenian policy holders. They are practically all dead now, and have left no heirs to collect the money. It, of course, all reverts to the state, so the government is the beneficiary now."

SONG HITS ARE REHEARSED BY BY ELKS CAST

Another rehearsal was held last night for the Elks Minstrels, which appear at the Auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights, May 6 and 7. About forty were present and many were assigned parts in the big show. One of the big features of the entertainment will be the impersonation of famous people, many of whom are well known to the audience. Others who will present numbers of a comedy nature are: Jack Taylor, Frank Gale, Capt. Belt, and Alex McClellan. A comedy act entitled "Somewhere in France," which is at present a big hit on the Eastern vaudeville circuits has been arranged for and the leading part in the act will be taken by Wm. C. Paulson. T. J. Van Arsdale, a clever black-face performer, has been added to the cast and he will have some minstrel features of a high order. Work was started on the dancing last night and several novel numbers will be introduced in the show.

ELKS' MINSTREL DEVELOPES WITH MARKED SPEED

Ability and Energy of Performers Counts a Lot in the Show

With a cast of about sixty on hand at rehearsal last night, the Elks Minstrel begins to take on a mastodonic proportions and as there were several members yet to put in an appearance, it is evident this show will be the biggest ever given by the Bismarck lodge of Elks. The rehearsal was marked by much enthusiasm and all the performers went through their parts in good shape.

The old-time minstrel act, which will be a decided novelty, will feature many of the old songs that were popular with the people of the last generation. Among the singers to present these numbers will be Henry Halverson, "Scotty" McClellan, Frank Gale and Clint Draper. The featured performers in this act will be Capt. Belk, who will sing that old camp meeting classic "Shine On" and Thos. Hall who will render the comedy song "Goodbye Susan Jane" in a manner that will make one glad that Susan decided to leave us. One of the vocal gems of this city will be sung by Frank Gale. Clint Draper, the director of the show will also appear in this act with a foot-shoe dancing number, and "Scotty" McClellan will show that he also is capable of shaking a "wicked hoot." Henry Halverson will render "The Old Folks at Home."

Many of the most popular and up-to-date songs will be introduced in the modern minstrel act which closes the show, but it is a safe bet that the old-time songs will be the ones to touch the hearts of the audience.

SOLDIERS' RETRIAL

Alabama Guardsmen Face Jury for Miner's Lynching

By Newspaper Enterprise.
Birmingham Ala. April 29—Alabama is ready for the second act of its soldier trial drama in which national guardsmen face murder charges for the lynching of William Baird, union miner, at Jasper last December.

Baird was in jail charged with the murder of a soldier on duty in the coal fields when he was lynched. Sergeant Robert L. Lancaster was tried at Hamilton but the hearing resulted in a mistrial. Lancaster again will be the first of the nine to face trial.

When the jury at the first hearing disagreed the state dismissed all indictments, drew new indictments and asked to have the trial transferred from Marion county. State Supreme Court ruled that the new trial must be held in Marion county. Judge T. H. Sowell will set dates for the trials early in May.

EXILES HAVE PAPER

It's to Help Keep Russ Royalty Together

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Geneva, Switzerland, April 29—Members of the Imperial Russian court, now scattered all over the world, are contributing to the world's smallest newspaper, The Russ Journal, a weekly publication issued in Geneva by the Russian Red Cross. Its purpose is to keep the royal exiles in touch with each other.

Dr. Lodybinsky, formerly a member of the old Russian court, is its editor. The former keeper of the royal archives today is a composer. Of particular interest to the exiles is the journal's practice of printing the names of former members of the aristocracy as they succeed in escaping Russia.

Through this publication members of royal families separated during the revolution learn the latest relatives and friends.

Russian nobility scattered throughout Europe, frequently have been assisted by the American Red Cross.

REV. L. C. SEEMANN NOW STRONGLY ENDORSES IT

Well Known Minister Feels It Duty to Tell Other Sufferers How Tanlac Filled Him With New Life And Energy.

It is seldom indeed that men of prominence, especially ministers of the Gospel, willingly express their indebtedness openly to a proprietary medicine. However, when a medicine obtains of that uniform purity and efficiency that is shown by the well-known preparation Tanlac, statements from our best citizens are to be considered thoroughly commendatory with the good that is actually being accomplished.

Rev. L. C. Seemann, of the Evangelical Lutheran church, whose address is Fossenden, R. F. D. 1, Well County, North Dakota, prominent not only as a minister of the Gospel but who is popular as a man and a citizen who has been true to his friends and to every trust imposed in him, said in speaking of his experience with the medicine:

"I had a bad form of stomach trouble for three years and was much discouraged, as the treatments I tried did not help me. My appetite was poor and the little I ate gave me great discomfort afterwards. My back hurt a good deal, too. I was nervous and losing vitality right along. I didn't even get much sleep at first from Tanlac, but, fortunately, I persisted and the good results have been far beyond my expectations. I eat what I please now and am no longer troubled with indigestion. I sleep better than I have in years and in fact, feel quite like a different man. I had before taking this remarkable medicine. I believe it is my duty to tell this experience of mine as I know there are many who are in need of just such a medicine as Tanlac proved itself to be in my case."

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow in Driscoll by N. J. and H. Barstie, in Wing by H. P. Homan, in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co. Stratton & Chap. Refran. Adv.

Notice of Change

We are making a change in our business methods. For many years we have sold goods on credit, and we have charged the cost of the goods for a few days, sometimes for a week, sometimes a month, and at times a bill has run for six months, a year, and some bills are still running. We have been glad to do this. It seemed the best way of conducting a business. We did it. Mostly all merchants did it. It seemed to be the natural way of selling. The war has changed everything. People in general are becoming bored by this condition and are looking a little deeper into the values contained in a dollar. We have seen this change coming and have felt that something sooner or later must be done to help, and we have come to this conclusion:

That there is absolutely only one way of doing business successfully, and that is to do it right. We have to get out of the credit rut. Therefore, on and after May 1 we will change from credit to cash. We are to sell everything for cash and buy for cash. Charge accounts will be a thing of the past at this store.

We realize fully the importance of this step. We have had many years to think this matter over, and we are absolutely convinced that cash is the best policy for all parties concerned. We are not trying to reform the world, but we will reform the policy of this store.

We don't believe that people want to be in debt. They are unhappy when they are in debt and can't pay. The fact that 90 per cent. of business is done on credit doesn't prove that it's the right system. We are not going to a cash basis, from choice, but from necessity. It is our desire to be of help to the community and by selling for cash we can sell for less profit. During our business career we have lost a good deal of money through the credit system. And we think the time is now ripe for the passing of the credit system and giving way for the cash system. Business is human service, and changing conditions require revision in the manner of doing business. We are prepared to prove that this change from credit to cash is beneficial to all. Improved conditions for the consumer and competition with distant city stores and mail order houses are bringing about these changes. In the wholesale market the merchant who pays cash for his goods is always given preference over the merchant who buys on time. The retail merchant who has his money scattered all over the community in the form of book accounts is often forced to let many opportunities go by because he does not feel like obligating himself any more.

We couldn't begin to sell goods at lower prices than others if we sold on credit. Cash buying and cash selling is the only way to cut prices down, and the advantage is mostly your gain. Every cash dollar that you spend here will buy more than a promise-to-pay dollar will buy anywhere. We have reduced the prices on many items in our store to a cash paying basis, and when we say we can save you from 10 to 20 per cent. on your purchase we mean every word of it, and can easily verify the statement at the counter. We can publish our prices to the world because they are cash prices, and everybody gets them. Your dollar will buy as much as anybody else's dollar. No more. No less.

CLERGYMAN TO HANG 2 SLAYERS

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Des Moines, Ia. April 29.—Despite the fact that the sixth commandment specifically says "Thou Shalt Not Kill," Rev. Winfred E. Robb is going to hang two men.

As preacher-sheriff of Polk county, Iowa, it will be his job to spring the trap that will execute Eugene Weeks and Orrie L. Cross, convicted of the murder of George A. Fosdick, a Des Moines grocer.

"God is a God of Justice as well as a God of Mercy," says Robb and he grets that it falls to his lot to hang the men she says it is his duty to do as the law directs.

Robb, a chaplain in France with the 188th Infantry, was elected sheriff last November. On the night of Feb. 1 Fosdick was murdered, and it was not until two months later that the sheriff, after a chase that led through many of the larger cities, landed the two murderers in jail.

"I expect to spend a great deal of time with Weeks and Cross before I am called upon next April to hang

MAKE HOME BEAUTIFUL

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Kansas City, Mo., April 29.—When you want to add another touch of beauty to your home do you visit the shops and buy things in "sets?"

Why not, instead—Seek your attic—or if you haven't one, perhaps your mother or grandmother has—and get out the relegated pieces.

Then listen while Mrs. H. H. McCluer gives you the secret of inspiring charm where once there was only furniture.

"In the first place," says Mrs. McCluer, "the home beautiful does not mean extravagance."

"My old-fashioned wash stand I robbed of its drawers, leaving only legs and where the towel rack was I put a mirror which I had picked up for a trifle. After removing the varnish I finished it with old ivory enamel and then had a very attractive dressing table."

"My dresser, which had two tall rows of drawers on either side of a long mirror, I made into two pieces of furniture by removing the drawers and making of them a separate little 'stand.' The mirror I swung horizontally above the dresser and enameled the whole in the same old ivory."

IF YOU WERE A PREACHER, WOULD YOU HANG A MAN?

If you were a minister of the gospel could you conscientiously spring the trap that would hang a man?

Do you think such an act would be in accord with Bible teachings?

Rev. Winfred E. Robb, a preacher of Des Moines and also sheriff of Polk county, is going to hang two convicted murderers.

Despite the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Kill" Rev. Robb says the Bible justifies his act. He points to this passage in Matthew XXV: "And before Him shall be gathered all nations, and He shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats."

"And He shall set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left."

"Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

"Then shall He say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels."

"And these shall go away into everlasting punishment; but the righteous into life eternal."

What do YOU think?

points to other biblical verses that he says justify his act.

Although the law permits him to pass the grim duty along to one of his assistants, Robb has no such intention.

"It would be cowardly," he says sadly, "for me to let others perform the duty that the voters of the county entrusted to me. The task of hanging Weeks and Cross would be equally revolting to any citizen, whether he be a preacher or a merchant. If I cannot carry out the duties of a sheriff, I will resign. But I assure you I have no intention of quitting."

"I find justification in the Bible for the work that I am called upon to do, and I will do that work even though it means the taking of a human life."

Mrs. Robb endorses the stand taken by her husband. Although she rejects that it falls to his lot to hang the men she says it is his duty to do as the law directs.

"I want to see them both repent. I do not mean the shallow repentance that follows the arrival of a man within the shadow of the hangman's noose, but the real repentance of the soul for the awful act they have committed."

"I believe I can help them to see the light. As a minister of the gospel that is my duty just as much as it is my duty as sheriff to hang them."

By chance April 15—the date set for the hanging of Weeks, first of the pair to die—falls on Saturday. And so Robb, as a sheriff, one day will stand in the death house at Fort Madison and spring the trap that snuffs out a human life and on the next will return to Des Moines where, as a pastor, he will enter his pulpit and preach the gospel.

MILLSTONES

Beware Lest You Put One Around Your Neck!

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING.

Married and gone before she really knew what love and life meant.

Then, the spell of the wedding ring broken, back home to mother and suing for divorce before she was out of her teens.

It was all a mirage for little 16-year-old Lucile Ross of Portland, Ore. Life stretched out before her full of love and happiness.

And then suddenly, just as her fingers were about to clasp it, the lovely crystal shattered, the bit of this-world-down was carried away by the wind, the roses died and turned a hideous brown.

The little wife, with the softly curling hair and the quick smile of a girl, but something of the woman in her heart, had found that marriage wasn't a game for a boy and girl.

There is no tragedy quite so relentless as that of the too youthful marriage. Because there is no way of beating human nature, and according to the law of nature, our affections, during those formative early teen years, are fickle things.

Then and Now.

Why you remember it—there was Paul, for instance, whom you adored during your first year in high school. The little crumpled notes he threw across the aisle thrilled you. You tucked them in your blouse and read them again and again.

But you saw Paul, the other day. He was holding some kind of menial job. And you shivered to think of what you escaped.

For, had you married Paul, he would have hung like a millstone around your neck. Instead of taking your hand and happily proceeding with you—you would have had to lead the way and drag him along. You would have had to cut the nitches by which he climbed, going ever ahead of him.

And that would have been such a weary, lonely task.

Yet Paul is the man you would have married had you married during those high school years.

MUSIC RECITAL GREAT SUCCESS

The music recital given by Mrs. Menard Hughes' class in the City library last night was a marked success. A program of twenty-six numbers was rendered, parents and friends making up an enthusiastic audience. Muriel Baker played Roubier's "Chaconne" and Greig's "Album Leaf"; Florence Wynkoop followed with Burgmuller's "Chevaleresque"; Willma Cunningham "The Mill Song" by Bisquet and Lach's "Cabaletta"; Bessie Yassley played Haydn's Romance in F; and Norma Devel followed with Fantasia in D Minor by Mozart. Evelyn Patterson played "Santa Claus Guards" by Krogmann and Mozart's Minuet in E flat was rendered by Lucy Provost. Emelyn and Gayhart Patterson in duet played The Lilliputian Parade by Ducllet. Nach's "May Day Party" and Spaulding's "Chimney Blossoms" were rendered by Olive Hughes. Anita Beebe played "Gypsy Rondo" and "Andante" by Haydn. Frances Wynkoop played "Little Runaway" by Bonetti. There was a duet by Anita Beebe and Bessie Yassley. Florence Taft played "The Meadow Lark" and "Ripples" by Lawson. a his album and "Bright Butterflies" by Kink were numbers by Mary Gallagher, and Muriel Robinson followed with "On the Meadow" by Lichner and "A Curious Story" by Heller. Florence and Frances Wynkoop played a duet, Beethoven's Minuet in G, and the musical program was finished by Lyle Tong in "Salut A Peste" by Kowalski and Chopin's Polonaise in A major.

Alice Strutz, a pupil of Miss Caspary gave a reading entitled "Unexpected Guests" which was received with much applause.

All musical numbers on the long program, except the duets, were played entirely from memory, and no one forgot a part. Altogether this was an unusually enjoyable program.

Lavender for Blonds

Lavender and apple blossoms—could you be anything but happy in such a combination of loveliness? Joseph combines the two in this good looking, short back mushroom and poised at the front a luscious bunch of blossoms. Maline at the edge gives it the softness so much to be desired with summery frocks. And to wear it becomingly there must be a soft fluff of hair about the face. There could be nothing more lovely for you, blond lady, than lavender and apple blossoms!

orate banquet the Community club presented Mrs. White with a dainty gift and the Commercial club presented Colonel White with a memento of the occasion. Professor J. B. Meyer led the singing with Professor Peters at the piano.

Are Wrinkles Your Fear?

You noticed, when you glanced into your mirror this morning that a few wrinkles have already developed around your eyes and mouth.

And since you are still in your twenties you dislike carrying a set of wrinkles to the office with you every day—though you must acknowledge that you haven't time for long sessions with the beauty specialist.

Causes Vary.

Your wrinkles may come from various causes. Perhaps your skin is very fine and thin, then wrinkles will come easily. Perhaps you are very nervous, or perhaps your skin is too dry.

Any of these causes can be, to a certain extent, corrected.

If your skin is too dry you should be particularly careful about its bathing in the evening you should use lukewarm water, taving it thoroughly and in the morning use cold water, for this is stimulating. Pay particular attention to the forehead where the wrinkles first are seen—spray the skin there with cold water in the evening after the bath or use cold compresses if the gentler treatment does not bring results.

An alcohol or stinegar lotion containing alum borax or tannin is good for the wrinkled parts. This should be used in the morning but it your skin is dry be sure that you use a good cream after it.

The New Garrick is located at the corner of 5th and Broadway.

DIDN'T KNOW HIS BROTHER

"My brother got so bad with stomach and liver trouble that when I saw him after a year, I didn't know him. He was emaciated and yellow as a pumpkin and was often in great pain. He couldn't have lived long the way he was going. Doctors and medicine gave him no relief. I picked up a little booklet on Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which he said described his case perfectly. The first dose of it gave him great relief and in a month he was as good as ever." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold at All Druggists.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS A Tragedy in Two Reels. BY ALLMAN

DRESS REFORMERS BACK IN 1634

Boston, April 29.—Dress reformers of the present day, who deplore the abbreviated skirt and the peek-a-boo waist may be astounded to learn that even in the good old Puritan times the lure of Dame Fashion had a bewitching effect on the young men and maidens. Research into the ancient laws of the Massachusetts Bay colony have revealed that the fathers had their own troubles with their offspring who recognized a snappy style when they saw it.

In 1634 just four years after the arrival of Governor Winthrop's ships, the apparel question had become so pressing that the law makers tried their hands as fashion moulders. Here is the statute placed on the books in its original wording:

"The Court, taking into consideration the greates, superfluous and unnecessary expences occasioned by reason of some newes and immodest fashions as also the ordinary wearing of silver, golde, and silke laces, girdles, hat bands, etc., hath therefore ordered that no person, either man or woman shall hereafter make or buy apparell, either woollen, silke or linnen, with any lace on it, silver, golde silke or threed, under the penalty of the forfeiture of such clothes.

"Provided,—and it is the meaning of this court that men and women shall have liberty to weare out such apparell as they are now provided of, except the immoderate great sleeves, slashed apparell, immoderate great ruffles, long wings, etc.

"This order to take place a fortnight after the publishing thereof."

WHEAT SHOWS EARLY STRENGTH
Chicago, April 29.—Fresh strength showed itself in the wheat market today with attention directed largely to the scantiness of the stocks on hand here available for delivery on May contracts. Initial quotations which ranged from 1 1/4 to 3 cents higher were followed by material gains all around.

THE WALL IN THE PACIFIC

This map shows you how the Japanese mandate in the Pacific ocean erects a wall separating the United States from the Philippine Islands and our Oriental customers.

Incidentally, the mandate closes the jaws nearly around Guam, the island owned by the United States and important as a cable and coaling station, also as a base for American naval operations in the Pacific.

Securely inside this sphere of influence, over which Japan claims the politicians gave her indisputable control at Paris, is the island of Yap.

If we are barred from Yap, the Japanese sit there censoring part of our commercial and diplomatic cables to the Orient.

The United States demands the right to land a cable at Yap. Japan refuses. That is the immediate situation over Yap in a nutshell. But more important is the mandate giving Japan control over a piece of the Pacific ocean about half as large as the United States, and acting as a wall between us and the Orient.

With the Movies

Medical authorities are commencing to recognize the danger of the flood of literature which has come into the market on the subject of the care of babies. The danger is not in the information contained in the many volumes but in the variable ways in which beneficial results are obtained.

One of the best informed authorities on the subject in New York City told of being called in to attend a baby that had contracted a severe cold. In attempting to get the history of the exposure he got this answer from the anxious young mother:

"My own mother gave me one book and my mother-in-law another and both of them insisted upon the importance of fresh air for the baby while he was being bathed. One said to over heat the room and open the windows. The other one said to open the windows and then permit the room to come back to normal temperature. I do wish somebody would write a book about what not to do instead of so many things to do."

Charlie Chaplin, the most famous screen comedian probably never heard this, but he has answered it in an entirely unexpected way by a series of the most comical scenes he ever put into a picture in the things he does in raising his foster son in "The Kid." First National's six weeks of joy, which will be the attraction at the Eltinge theater beginning Monday, May 2.

Every single one of the things he does are apparently demanded by the two-week old founding he has taken for his own, and every one of them could be compiled in a list by any young mother under a general heading of "DON'T." Charlie follows the reasonable course dictated by improper "motherhood" and "The Kid" is developed in spite of the care the baby gets rather than because of it.

FAIRBANKS AT ORPHEUM
If you love thrills and action, do not miss a William Fairbanks production. "Fighting Bill" is the right title for this picture. It is full of fights, furious action and punch. The three-round boxing match, staged between Bill Fairbanks and Jean LaRouque (Al Kaufman, former heavyweight champion), has never before been equaled in pictures. You will imagine yourself at the ringside watching a real slugger match when you see this picture.

William Fairbanks in "Fighting Bill" stages a fight with six men. You don't see them waiting for their turn to jump in and fight but you see them all together clawing scratching and kicking a regular he-man fight and you will see Bill Fairbanks bloody, bruised and beaten, but in the end victorious.

A two reel Century comedy will complete the program which will be shown tonight tomorrow matinee and night, at the Orpheum.

TO REPRESENT UNIVERSITY.
Grand Forks, N. D., April 29.—McLain Johnson, Walter Volley and Fred Aundahl will represent the University of North Dakota, in the first extemporaneous intercollegiate speaking contest in which it has ever taken part, when, on Friday, they will compete here against three men from Macalester college.

The following evening, Carl Heston, Eldon Hansen and Harold Shatt of the University of North Dakota, will compete against a trio of Macalester college speakers in a contest at the latter institution. Different subjects will be used in the two events.

THE INSIDE NEWS OF WASHINGTON

Washington, April 28.—The culmination of America's industrial and economic troubles will be reached about June 1, in the opinion of cabinet officials and government experts.

By that date, it is believed, the whole combination of transportation wage and credit difficulties will reach their climax.

If the month of June can be passed without serious disaster, the administration believes the country will move into a period of prosperity and development not equaled in the last decade.

A general readjustment of wages, particularly in the building and skilled industries, must be effected in the belief of cabinet advisers.

Closed industries and unemployment is expected to be a more powerful factor in influencing this about, however, than any direct negotiation between employer and employee. So far as possible the government will seek to assist readjustments, but no one expects the process to be either painless or harmonious.

The administration does not expect labor to do it all. There must be further reductions in the cost of living that will enable the workman to accept a reduced wage.

Studies by government experts show that the retail trade generally has not reduced its prices in keeping with the reductions in manufactures' and jobbers' prices.

One cabinet head insists that despite somewhat lower prices many retailers are today making a large margin of profit on their wares than during the height of wartime profiteering.

Revival of profiteering prosecutions may result.

General revision of railroad rates is held imperative, although to date the Interstate Commerce Commission has not seemed to undertake any general rate revision.

But administration advisers are so insistent on the necessity of a thorough overhauling of the rate structure that the commission will not be able to evade it.

"Wholly aside from the wage question," one cabinet member says, "there must be a reconstruction of the whole rate plan and a readjustment of rates between different commodities."

As a result of the general transportation tangle it is likely a transportation problem of the country will be recommended by the committee on government reorganization. Such a bureau probably would be assigned to the Department of Commerce.

A mid-summer improvement in credit and export conditions is expected to follow new reparations negotiations between Germany and the Allies.

The administration is confident the Hughes note to Germany declining the invitation for this country to arbitrate the sum of Germany shall pay as reparations but offering to submit to the Allies any proposition Germany might wish to make, will result in a resumption of negotiations through which some satisfactory and workable reparations agreement may be reached.

It is stated in official quarters that Great Britain, rather than France, is the nation most difficult to satisfy in the matter of reparations.

The British mind, it is stated, is on the world's trade and commerce. The Briton wants German industries so hampered by reparations taxes that they cannot undercut English wares in the world's markets.

The French, however, being 80 per cent an agricultural nation, want guarantees of safety rather than protection from competition.

IT WAS GRAVE MISTAKE

Touglas, Ariz., April 28.—An American, blue rider found a supposedly new grave on the desert near here. Not on the trail of a mystery, he and several companions started to dig. They found a coffin-shaped box all right but it was filled with coals, deemed amputation. Had one of the picks struck it, well York, S. C., April 28.—Officers who raided the home of Sam Williams, negro farmer living near here, found two barrels containing corn "mash" used in making moonshine liquor.

"Boss sah," said Sam, "hit hain't nothin' but er little mash Ah hab mixed ter feed mah sick mule."

"All right, Sam," replied State Constable J. L. Johnson, "we'll offer the mule a little of the mash. If Jenny eats it, you are at liberty; otherwise it's you for the hoosegow."

A bucket of mash was placed before the sick mule.

Jenny gave one snort, then turned all and ran.

"No sick mule ever ran so fast," opined Johnson.

Williams?

You're right, he did.
